

 JOHNSON Elettrodomestici Srl., was founded in 1964 thanks to the foresight of Picozzi Mario and his wife Sozzi Angela with the aim of providing an efficient product to the growing needs of the household appliance, hotel, community sectors, etc., following the evolution of the market, JOHNSON has increased its range in quality and quantity by making available to its customers a wide range of items including products for hospitality, cooking, cleaning, personal care. Our items are visible through a constantly evolving catalog, available on our website www.johnson.it, together with photos and instruction manuals.

The JOHNSON philosophy has always been based on the ability to respond flexibly and precisely to market demands, thanks to the punctual organization and completeness of the range offered. Particular attention is paid to the quality of the products distributed, due to the specific experience acquired nationally and internationally.

In order to improve the speed of order fulfillment and storage capacity, JOHNSON has decided to invest significant financial and organizational resources by implementing a complete automation of management and installing an automatic vertical warehouse with a storage capacity of approx. 3,000 pallets. The perfect traceability of the product and its consequent certification, the wide range, the quality of the materials and the constant commitment to following the customer's needs, has allowed JOHNSON Elettrodomestici, to become over the years a leading company in its sector, and a qualified supplier of the most important customers at national and international level.

The well-equipped molding department with automatic machines, a reliable and flexible assembly line allows us to complete the service offered by providing customized pieces with our own brand upon specific customer request. This customized service allows customers to create a different, complete and quality image on their market. The process of growth and corporate transformation in recent years has progressed in the commitment to create a lean and efficient company, always ready to fulfill the requests of its customers.
